

Freedom Not Fear

Brussels - 14, 15, 16 and 17
September 2012

Press release #2

12 September 2012

Reminder: "Freedom Not Fear" event is coming up!

Four days of privacy and digital rights in Brussels

The second "Freedom not Fear" event will bring together privacy and digital rights activists from across Europe. The event will be held on September 14–17 September in Brussels.

This weekend aims at supporting and empowering an international network of privacy and civil rights movements and activists. On Friday afternoon, the event will be officially launched with two discussions featuring Mr. Werner Stengg, (Head of Unit DG Internal Market, European Commission) and Mr. Peter Hustinx (European Data Protection Supervisor).

Peter Johan Hustinx

The conference is organised as a barcamp – the programme is continuously updated and offers a diverse range of activities. These include, among others, talks and workshops on the data protection reform in Europe, data retention and passenger name records as well as outside activities, such as a CCTV spotting game in the city centre. Furthermore, a protest walk through the city of Brussels has been announced for Saturday, 11am.

For more information, visit the multi-language press information site.

Freedom Not Fear 2012:

<http://freedom-not-fear.eu>

Freedom Not Fear introduction:

<http://wiki.vorratsdatenspeicherung.de/images/FNF12-Intro-en.pdf>